Franco Army In Barcelona, Feeds Hungry

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier), Jan. 26 (AP)—Insurgent Generalissimo Franco's Spanish, Moorish and Italian troops marched into Barcelona at noon today with flags flying and bands playing, formally taking over Spain's largest city after two and a half years of civil war.

The government defense had collapsed. Insurgent dispatches said there was little or no resistance at the end.

At last reports the government army was forming a new defense line somewhere to the north.

WILDLY ACCLAIMED

Insurgent accounts of the entry said the people of Barcelona flocked from their houses to greet the victorious army whose planes for months have been raining death in their midst.

Today it was another thing. Dispatches reaching the border said the Barcelonans cheered wildly as the troops paraded through the palm-lined streets.

To them Franco's victory meant something other than triumph for the insurgent cause. It meant food and an end to the bombings.

The great metropolis, with a war-time population of more than 1,500,000, was reported to have fallen at the last with no serious fighting.

BIGGEST PRIZE OF WAR

Franco's armies had gained the greatest prize of the war at the climax of a knockout offensive launched December 23 from lines some 80 miles to the west.

Near the French border Premier Juan Negrin and his Spanish government sought to re-establish their offices temporarily after a hasty flight from Barcelona.

But there were indications that both the Republican cabinet and theater of war might be shifted soon to the southern-central "island" of government territory including Madrid and Valencia.

Insurgent accounts said the entry into Barcelona was orderly and disciplined. Within 10 minutes banners began appearing on balconies and windows and the city soon was gay with decorations.

Two hours after the insurgents' arrival celebrations were reported in the streets, with crowds demanding appearance of Franco.

Tanks and armored cars accompanied the infantry marching into Barcelona. Soldiers waved their rifles aloft, crying, "Long live Spain!" "Long live Spanish Catalonia!"

They marched down the Paseo de Colon, one of the main streets, and through the Calle de Cortes. Many of the welcoming throng, Insurgent dispatches said, were weeping.

Ex-Choir Girl To Bare Gang Rule Secrets

In my sweet little Alice Blue Gown
When I just wandered down into town
I was bashful and shy . . .

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Back in the news today was beautiful Dale Winter, once the wife of the late "Big Jim" Colosimo, slain underworld leader of the "Scarface Al" Capone era.

Miss Winter, former chorus girl and cafe singer, has been called as a witness before a federal grand jury in New York.

TWO HAPPY NOW—These five mothers . . . (l. to r.) Mrs. Berry Chaleff, Mrs. Mary Guariglia, Mrs. Ellen O'Loughlin, Mrs. Yetta Friedman and Mrs. Fanny Zimmerman . . . made a combined plea to Governor Lehman to save their sons from Sing Sing's electric chair. Today, two are happy . . . as Lehman commuted death sentences of Philip Chaleff and Isidore Zimmerman. All five boys were convicted of holdup-murder of a New York city detective.

2 SNATCHED FROM CHAIR; 3 PALS MUST DIE TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Two East Side mothers wept tears of gratitude today.

Their sons, doomed to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing just after midnight, were saved by Governor Lehman. He commuted their sentences to life imprisonment.

200 in Race Jobs Face Budget Axe

Indications that 200 or more employees of the state racing commission are due for discharge were seen today at the State House in a breakdown of budget figures submitted by Governor Saltonstall.

This would be the first of the wholesale firings which have been feared since the change in administrations.

Governor Saltonstall slashed the requested appropriation of the racing commission from $154,397 to $122,750, a cut of $31,647.

$23,610 UNDER 1938

The Saltonstall figure is also $23,610 less than the $145,760 actually appropriated for the racing commission in 1938.

Since other expenses of the racing commission are more or less inflexible, it is believed that the loss of $23,610 from the 1939 appropriation must principally be made up by discharges of numerous state employees assigned to the various tracks.

These employees have long been an object of attack. It has been claimed that they do no actual work, that most of them are unnecessary, and that they are merely put on the payroll as a means of paying political debts.

SOME AT $50 DAY

These employees range from stewards at $50 a day, to observers and checkers at $10 a day.

The checkers are supposed to keep an eye on mutual windows and see that the state gets its "cut" while the observers are supposed to watch for illegal grandstand betting and other infractions of racing commission rules.

Because these appointments of track employees are regarded with high favor as political patronage, the budget for the racing commission is always the cause of great dispute when it comes before the legislature.

But the mothers of three other young slayers wept tears of bitterness and frustrated hope.

Please for their sons were rejected by the governor.

In the death house, at Ossining, Philip Chaleff, 27, and Isidore Zimmerman, 21, were told their lives had been spared.

SHADOWS DARKEN

In adjacent cells, however, the shadow of impending doom closed down more darkly than ever on Joseph O'Loughlin, 24, Arthur Friedman, 22, and Dominic Guariglia, 19.

Trying hard to keep their hard-boiled pose they shouted congratulations to their more fortunate pals.

Earlier today, all five had chatted about the weather; about how the Yankees would do this coming baseball season; about almost anything.

DALE WINTER
She Will Tell

POST on Saugus school board is sought by Mrs. Annie L. Hallin, mother of Isabel Hallin, pretty school teacher who was ousted by board in 1937. One of her daughter's leading opponents for re-instatement, Miss Maria Smith, 64, is seeking re-election to the board. Another candidate for re-election is Paul A. Haley, one of Miss Hallin's strong supporters.

MA HALLIN FIGHTS FOR DAUGHTER

With partisan glee, Saugus residents today rushed headlong to take sides in a feminine political vendetta which may at last settle the two-year feud which has smoldered ever since Isabelle Hallin, pretty Saugus High School teacher, was ousted for being "too modern."

"Vindication for my daughter" is the campaign slogan of Mrs. Annie L. Hallin of Adams street, who seeks the school committee post of Miss Maria E. Smith, 64-year-old teacher and member of the committee which originally preferred charges against the charming, blonde Isabelle.

"I wish to vindicate my daughter and silence forever the gossip who started all the trouble," Mrs. Hallin declared today. "No, I don't wish to see her reinstated," she added, "Isabelle is doing well as a stylist in New York now. But I do wish to see that young teacher get a square deal in Saugus schools. I don't think they are getting it."

For two years, the battle over the Hallin dismissal has been burning to white heat. The young English teacher and dramatic coach was charged with "serving cocktails to student actors" and with being "too modern" to be a school teacher.

Always a favorite with the students, daughter Isabelle is coming home just before the March election to "lead the band for Ma."

"Yes, Isabelle is coming home to join in the campaign," her father declared today. "She is doing well in New York now but she will never forget how unfairly she was used by a minority who are in power down here."

In an effort to take the personal issue out of the fight, Paul A. Haley, one of two members of the committee which defended Miss Hallin, also is seeking reelection.

Deb to Wed Flier Met in Hurricane

The hurricane brought them together; they'll marry in the spring. That's the romantic story of Pilot Bill Batty of Beacon Hill and post-debutante Dorothy Boyden of Vermont and Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Just after the hurricane of last September, Miss Boyden chartered a plane from the E. W. Wiggins Airline, East Boston, for a hurried trip to Rutland, Vt., to see how the storm had dealt with her old home.

Batty was pilot of the plane, and since Miss Boyden had never been in the air before, she had lots of questions to ask.

Batty answered them, so when, eventually, he had a question of his own, Miss Boyden said "yes."

As a result of her Vermont flight, Miss Boyden, who is a graduate of Skidmore College, decided to take up flying. Of course, she chose Bill Batty as her teacher. Now she has five hours in the air to her credit toward a solo license.

Batty, who has 30 other pupils in his capacity as instructor for the Boston Flying Club.

Miss Boyden made her debut in Saratoga Springs in 1936. She says the marriage will take place in May.

Well, Now, Who Did Shoot Hope's Hubby?

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (INS)—The fictional mystery of who shot Cock Robin was tame stuff today compared to the genuine mystery of who shot dapper Jules Brulatour, 68-year-old millionaire husband of blonde Hope Hampton, the actress.

Brulatour has a hole in his neck to prove that he was shot but the gun has not been found, the bullet has disappeared and—as they say on the lower East Side—"nobody knows nuttin' about de shootin'."

The debonair Brulatour has told so many different stories of how he came to collect a bullet hole in his neck that they fall in the fictionist class.

HOPE SNUBS JURY

Miss Hampton, who might have a smattering of knowledge as to the events leading up to the trigger bee, prefers not to talk at the moment.

She was invited to do a monologue for the grand jury but insisted that there should be an immunity clause in the contract, and when it was denied she swept her mink-coated loveliness right out of the criminal courts building.

Extent of police knowledge of the case today—four days after the shooting—is: (1) Brulatour was shot; (2) somebody shot him.

Brulatour says he shot himself in the back of the neck while cleaning his gun. This is regarded by the police as probably a slight exaggeration of fact and they would like to see the gun which can be cleaned while held behind the neck but, as stated, it has disappeared.

BULLET IN GLASS

Brulatour has been quoted by police as announcing he would find the gun when he has been discharged from the hospital and also as admitting he had destroyed it. Miss Hampton, on whom Brulatour, considerably her senior, is reputed to have lavished a king's ransom in jewels, has not indicated to police what became of the glass phial containing the bullet which a physician said he gave her.

Miss Hampton reluctantly answered a Grand Jury summons from the office of District Attorney Dewey but with a swish of her expensive mink coat she refused to testify unless granted immunity.

Testimony which could later not be used in court was unacceptable to Dewey's aides and they released her. They did not immediately indicate what further steps would be taken against Miss Hampton.

Brulatour, jaunty as ever, was

TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION

(Or What They Say about the Shooting of Jules Brulatour)

The Shooting—

"I fell downstairs."
"The damned gun went off accidentally."
—Brulatour.

Brulatour insisted his injury resulted from a fall until shown X-ray pictures of the bullet in his neck.

The Gun—

"It was my chauffeur's."
"I destroyed it."
"I put it in a vault."
—Brulatour.

Police records revealed the chauffeur had turned in his gun in 1933. Furthermore, a doctor said he had seen two guns in the house.

The Bullet—

"I put it in a vial and gave it to Mrs. Brulatour."
—Dr. Carl Theobald.
"I gave it to my husband."
—Hope Hampton.

Police searched the Brulatour home at 1145 Park Ave. for both gun and bullet. They found neither.

"I destroyed it. No, I put it in a vault."
—Brulatour.

The Wound—

"It would have been fatal, ripping through the eye, if he had not turned his head."
—Dr. Hermann Fischer.

Detectives were puzzled as to how the bullet took a downward course, lodging in the nape of the neck, when Brulatour was examining the gun.

Lynn Suspect Trapped by His Trust in Girl

Refusal to believe that a Lynn hotel waitress was all "washed up" with him today brought the arrest in New York of Kimo J. "Kimo" Macris, 30, small-time Lynn gambler, sought since his partner, Frank L. Anderson, was shot 10 days ago.

Macris confidently believed the girl would relent when he stepped into a telephone booth at Madison Square Garden and made his second call to her in two days. Only the night before, she had told him she wanted nothing more to do with him and had hung up on his first call.

SHE TELLS POLICE

What's more, she called Lynn police and told them about it, and the Lynn police have been looking for "Kimo" ever since Anderson, badly wounded, was pulled from an automobile on Union street on January 16.

The call was traced and Johnny Broderick, hard-hitting New York detective, was assigned to stay right at the same telephone booth.

So when Macris, following up a hockey game with attendance at the Louis-Lewis bout, stepped into the booth, he had a battle on his hands.

It was all over quickly after Broderick, frequent sparring mate of Jack Dempsey, went to work.

It was disclosed today that a few days after the shooting, information was received that Macris had been friendly with several waitresses in a Lynn hotel and had given each of them $5 for Christmas.

LEAVE WITH WARRANTS

The waitresses were questioned and denied having information as to the fugitive's whereabouts. Police since that time had kept a close watch on the hotel.

Lynn police left for New York with warrants charging Macris with assault with intent to murder in Anderson's case and with attempting to shoot one Charles Carbo.

The shooting and subsequent discovery of "loaded dice" started police on an investigation of dice games in Lynn.

Cold Snap Will Ease Tonight; Snow on Way

It's going to be warmer tonight—but not much.

The coldest period today, officially, was 4.9 degrees at 7:10 a. m. Tonight, the weather bureau expects, the temperature will climb as high as 12 to 15 degrees.

Today was almost as cold as Monday, which had a minimum temperature of 4.3. Light snow is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

The cold belt extended over all the eastern states. Sub-zero temperatures were reported in interior New England and New York.

Near Boston, Bedford reported 5 below, Concord 2 below, Lexington 1 below, Arlington Heights zero and Arlington Center 2 above. Mt. Washington, where a northwesterly gale of 136 miles an hour was blowing, 29 below was reported. Quebec shivered in temperatures of 22-46 below.

The steamer Lady Somers docked at Commonwealth pier and passengers who were basking in tropical sunshine a few days ago had to expose their sunburn to arctic blasts.

The ship was coated in ice. Fishing ships which docked at the pier were likewise examples of ice sculpture. Four Coast Guard vessels were braving the icy seas on errands of mercy off the New England coast.

The Chelan, Algonquin and Dix were off Portland, hunting for two lobster fishermen, missing several days in their 30-foot power boat.

The Argo was 110 miles from Boston, towing to port the disabled Gloucester dragger Alice and Mildred.

SEES PRIVATE CAB PLAN DEFEAT SURE

The proposal to abolish private taxi stands in Boston, approved by the people in a referendum at the last state election, will be defeated by the City Council next Monday, Councillor Clement A. Norton of Hyde Park predicted today.

"Unless certain councilors are converted over the week-end," Norton said, "it is my opinion that the will of the voters as expressed in the referendum will not be carried out."

The proposal will come up for action Monday at a council meeting in Faneuil Hall.

According to City Clerk Wilfred Doyle, a majority vote of a quorum is enough to defeat the taxi stand measure.

SEVEN HOLD POWER

As a quorum is only 12, seven members of the Council could thus defeat the proposal if there were nine absentees. According to City Hall talk, at least 11 members of the Council are set to vote against public stands.

These councilors have declared publicly that throwing open the existing private stands to all taxis would promote chaos.

Norton has been the leader of the fight for open stands. He said today:

"It is unfair, undemocratic and un-American to permit continuance of taxi stand licenses which allow the choice spots to be monopolized by one concern."

The taxi stand question has been political dynamite since voters expressed themselves heavily against private stands.

BRIBERY CHARGES

First the city council and then the finance commission investigated stories that councilors had accepted the Independent Taxi Owners' Association, soliciting bribes in return for votes for open stands.

Later, some hotels said they would have no taxi stands at all if public stands were permitted. The members of the city council who are eligible to vote on the taxi question are:

No, Sir, Hubby Can't Destroy Wife's Auto

Despite the defense contention that a man and wife are one person in common law, Judge Wilford D. Gray ruled in Middlesex superior court today that a husband has no right to have his wife's $1200 automobile pushed over a 50-foot cliff to keep her "from running around nights."

So, he found the husband, Joseph Bennett, 31, of Park drive, Back Bay, guilty of wantonly destroying personal property and put him on probation.

He found co-defendant Edward Astell, 21, of Perrin street, Charlestown, guilty of the same offense and gave him three months in the house of correction. At the same time Astell received three months more for stealing air cases of eggs in December.

Bennett, his wife and Astell all refused to testify, but Somerville police said Mrs. Bennett parked her car in front of a Boston beauty shop September 9.

The next time she saw it, the court was told, it was a mass of tangled wreckage at the foot of a Somerville embankment.

Bennett was charged with having Astell push the car over. The defense counsel argued a man and wife are one, and it is no offense for a man to destroy his own property.

"If I ever saw an out and out case of wilful destruction of property this is it," said Judge Gray.

10,000 to Attend Curley Reception

The James M. Curley Club of Massachusetts today announced that it expects 10,000 persons to greet the former Governor Curley, Attorney-General Paul A. Cover and former State Auditor Thomas H. Buckley at the South Armory, Irvington street, tonight.

The purpose of the meeting, designated as a reception for Mrs. Curley and the former governor, is a discussion of "house-cleaning in the Democratic party."

Ex-Governor Curley's address will be on "Republican Hypocrisy and Democratic Duplicity."

LABOR PROTESTS BOOST IN STATE TAXES

Realty Group Declares Move Will Create Jobs

How T'X Marks Spot

Here is a chart of the increased revenue that would accrue from Governor Saltonstall's tax program:

Subject	Present Tax	Proposed Tax	Increased Revenue
Income	1 1/2% over $2000	2 1/2% over $1400	$4,200,000
Cigarettes	None	2 cents	6,000,000
Gasoline	4 cents	5 cents	5,000,000
Electricity	None	1 cent per 24 kilowatt hrs.	2,000,000
Taxes on other items, including inheritance, gifts, pari-mutuels			2,500,000
Total			$21,000,000

Governor Saltonstall's budget, which set a new high of $190,711,269 for two years, with new taxes on cigarettes, gasoline and incomes, was attacked today by labor and taxpayers.

Labor, through Kenneth I. Taylor, secretary of the State Federation of Labor, assailed the budget as contributing "to the suffocation of the little fellow, who is already under a heavy blanket of taxation, both visible and invisible."

Taylor expressed fear that the Saltonstall budget might have been designed to put the people in a mood to accept a sales tax, and warned against any such tax. Taxation of property now tax-exempt, and serious consideration of a state lottery as a money-raising venture were suggested by Taylor.

SUGGESTS LOTTERY

"If parts of Harvard and Princeton, as well as parts of the State of Louisiana, were financed by a lottery, perhaps Massachusetts can avert bankruptcy by a lottery, if that's our condition, in the same way," he said.

Norman MacDonald, executive director of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations, characterized the budget tax "entirely inadequate."

"We have always opposed any new tax to raise more money to spend," MacDonald said. "What we need is to raise less money to spend."

"Any new tax must be a replacement tax, set about with safeguards to make sure that no more money shall be spent than before."

"The budget message is entirely inadequate, considering the plight of cities and towns and their financial reaction to the state government."

MacDonald said his organization would analyze the budget and make many suggestions for economy.

PROTESTS MOUNT
More trouble for the budget was seen when P. J. B. Sullivan of Holyoke called a mass meeting in protest against the new cigarette tax of two cents a package.

Sullivan, representing the New England division of the powerful National Association of Tobacco Distributors, called an executive meeting of his organization for next Sunday at Hotel Kenmore and invited the public to attend.

FAVORED BY TOBIN

The budget found favor, however, with Mayor Tobin of Boston and some real estate interests.

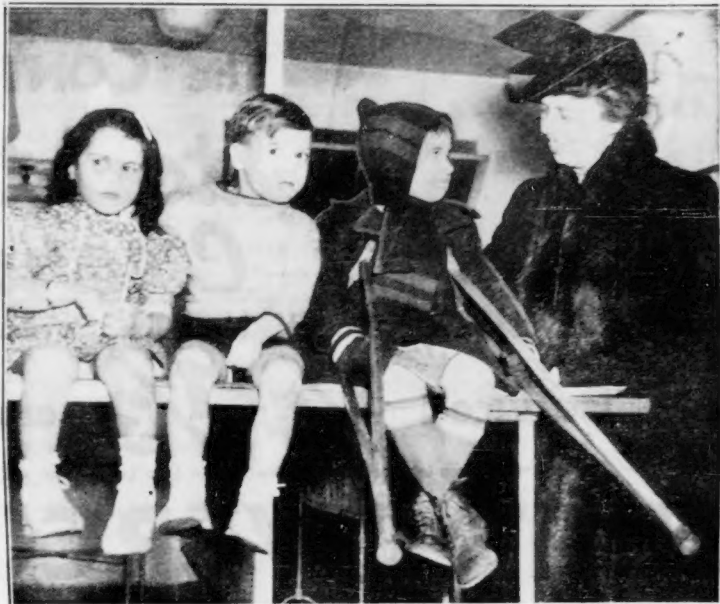

Tobin hailed the budget as "a courageous and statesmanlike approach to the tax problem," and warned legislators either to adopt it or provide other constructive measures to raise money.

He said many Massachusetts communities face financial collapse. Many real estate men believed the new taxes would be a spur to the long-deferred building boom in this state.

This was a point the governor stressed in his budget message. He said:

"Real estate, which at present bears approximately 70 per cent of the total tax, has been constantly shrinking in value. This discourages the home owner who has built his home and the prospective home owner from building one."

"It makes it impossible for those in building trades to get jobs. It makes new business hesitant to come to Massachusetts, and it discourages activity in real estate, our prime investment and tax source."

12,000 KILLED AS QUAKE RAZES MANY CHILE TOWNS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 26 (AP)—First government reports today gave more than 4000 dead and the total may go above 12,000 in the earthquake that spread ruin and terror through central Chile.

The government communique was the first official tabulation of the death and damage and it was far from complete.

Estimates of 12,000 dead came from aviators who flew over the regions hardest hit, 250 miles south of Santiago in the heart of the agricultural belt, from refugees who came out by air and from amateur radio operators.

The communique confirmed that the ancient city of Chillan, associated with early Christian history, was destroyed. More than 300 were killed in a theater collapse and the total dead there was put at between 3000 and 4000. The population is 40,000.

"Sixty per cent" of Concepcion—known to tourists as the city of the perfumed plaza because of its beautiful linden trees—was destroyed. The communique gave no estimate of dead among the population of 77,000, but aviators and a manufacturer who flew out agreed that 2000 was a likely figure.

A physician who flew over Chillan reported only five houses were left standing in the 144 blocks comprising the main section of the southern city.

"The main streets a mile long was choked with a terrific mass of debris which means many who managed to escape collapsing houses were trapped under falling cornices and large blocks of stone," he said. "I think 5000 dead in Chillan is a conservative estimate."

Nicky Just Lonesome, He Tells Doggy Pals

Around the neighborhood of Selkirk road, Brighton, Nicky, diminutive spaniel puppy owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Knowlton, today claimed a special distinction among his doggy friends.

In his canine way, he told them he grew lonesome while Mrs. Knowlton was away, attending a Junior League lecture, and how he pushed a telephone from a table and whined demands for company over it.

Hearing the sounds, bewildered telephone operators plugged the "call" through to the Brighton police station and in a few minutes two radio cars were racing to the Knowlton home.

When officers entered, they found Nicky still standing lonesomely near the telephone, alternately whining and barking.

Drive Reaches
$1,500,000 Mark

Contributions to the Greater Boston 1939 Community Fund campaign reached $1,500,000 today as 15,000 volunteer workers braved icy winds to keep the drive in "high speed" towards its goal of $4,645,000 by February 7.

Stuart C. Rand, general chairman of the campaign, based his estimate on unofficial returns made during the morning.

Preparing for the second "Dutch treat" report luncheon at Boston City Club this noon, officers of the drive stated that individuals and groups alike responded well to appeals for early co-operation.

Roxbury district court, under leadership of Judge Frankland W. L. Miles, was the first unit of the public employees' division of the campaign to register 100 per cent employee subscription.

One of the early features of the drive was the display of a Community Fund movie, "Open Doors," in Faneuil Hall for 1500 employees of the city of Boston and Suffolk county.

It was the first time in the history of the ancient building that motion pictures were shown in the "Cradle of Liberty." Mayor Tobin, Chairman Robert Cutler of the public employees division and the Rev. Robert P. Barry, director of the Catholic Charitable Bureau, urged support of the fund.

More than 600 campaign workers were addressed by former Governor Channing Cox at yesterday's report luncheon, the first of a series to be held during the drive.

He Comes to Grief
On Bit of Sorrow

Bit of Sorrow, a race horse, may have won some money for Stanley El. Simpson, 26, of Lawrence, but he also supplied Simpson with the grief his name implies.

Appearing in Salem court on a charge of robbing a friend of $39, Simpson admitted some money was found in his pocket the day after the theft, but declared Bit of Sorrow romped home to supply it. Despite his story he was given an indefinite term in Concord Reformatory.

WOULD 'BLOW LID' OFF CARROLL CASE

BELFAST, Me., Jan. 26.—Declaring "the next move" is up to the Legislature, former Attorney General Clyde R. Chapman today awaited answer to his charge that Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll was "railroaded" to prison for the murder of Dr. James G. Littlefield.

In a sensational accusation, Chapman stated that Carroll was convicted on a "phony statement" gotten up to deceive the courts.

He charges Paul N. Dwyer, who also is in prison for the Littlefield slaying, identified the "phony statement" from the witness stand, knowing that it was not the same statement that he had made in prison. A copy of the real statement is now in Chapman's possession, according to the charge, and is ready for inspection by a special legislative commission.

"That commission should be appointed and I stand ready to prove my charges," Chapman stated at his home here today.

Carroll, a former army sergeant, was convicted of the murder of Dr. Littlefield last August at a trial which held the interest of the entire nation. His trial came several months after young Dwyer, sweetheart of Barbara Carroll, the ex-sheriff's daughter, had been convicted of the same murder.

Young Dwyer, in his new statement, said that Carroll killed the aged doctor and that his only part in the murder was driving the bodies of Dr. Littlefield and Mrs. Littlefield—also murdered—to North Arlington, N. J.

Both Carroll and Dwyer are now in State Prison at Thomaston,

BARBARA CARROLL
Her Father "Framed"?

where the former is foreman of the canning factory.

Since his imprisonment, Carroll has maintained he is innocent and that some day he will be vindicated.

What It Cost Him to 'Save' Plumbing Bill

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (INS)—Instead of calling upon a plumber when the water pipes froze, Joseph Evangelista decided to try out his new blow torch.

The torch exploded. The blast overturned coal stoves in all four flats of the frame building, each of which started a fire. It shattered nearly all the windows. It caved in the chimney. It tore plaster from the walls and weakened the beams so that the roof sagged.

Evangelista was treated for burns.

"What happened?" he said.

Study New Police Promotion Plan For Boston

A board of three experts appointed by the Civil Service Commission, today began a study of Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty's proposal to make police promotions on the basis of outstanding police work, without regard to civil service standing.

Members of the board include Timilty, President Henry R. Atkinson of the Massachusetts Civic League and John C. Gilbert, civil service commission present executive secretary.

They have as consultant Dr. Bryant Moulton of Winchester, civil service expert.

The board was appointed by agreement of the civil service commissioners, Chairman Thomas H. Green, Frank A. Bayrd and Louis Capelle.

Penney Widow Demands $4000

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 26—An aftermath of the still unsolved slaying of John W. Penney, Auburn filling station proprietor, was the filing of a bill today in the Maine House of Representatives asking payment of $4000 to Penney's widow for a "groundless indictment."

Mrs. Viola C. Penney, wife of the slain man, was secretly indicted by an Androscoggin county grand jury last September for the fatal beating of her husband.

County Attorney Frank T. Powers later not pressed the indictment for lack of evidence.

Seeing Eye Dog In Witness Role

Members of a legislative committee hearing and their squabbling spectators in a State House hearing room fell silent today—when a dog entered to be witness to the proceedings.

"Florence," a Belgian shepherd, was the "Seeing Eye" for Jane Learned, 24-year-old blind Needham girl, who appeared in favor of an appeal that "Seeing Eye" dogs in Massachusetts be exempted from license fees.

Harold R. Puffer, also blind, and chairman of the Social Hour for the Blind, proposed the measure and spoke in its favor, explaining there are only 17 such dogs in Massachusetts, and taxing them is "like taxing a crutch."

Unconcerned at the hearing and the respect that was given her, Florence slept by her mistress' feet.

KAY'S SUGGEST THESE 5 SIMPLE RULES FOR THE Care of Your Eyes-

- 1. AVOID STRAIN...
Over use of the eyes tires the delicate muscles. When your eyes burn or water give them a rest.
- 2. GLARE IS BAD...
Nothing tires the eyes quicker than glare. Avoid over bright light or unshaded light.
- 3. WHEN READING...
Don't hold what you read too far away from or too close to your eyes. Look up occasionally and relax your eyes.
- 4. DON'T RUB...
When your eyes itch and smart, never rub them. Itching and smarting is a sign of impending eye trouble.
- 5. BE SURE...
Trust your eyes to men you can depend on, Dr. Hillman and Dr. Staples, the registered optometrists at Kay's.

Austen Lake: Gehrig Sees Approach Of Physical Autumn

MAYBE THERE IS SOMETHING SYMPATHETIC between the sudden signing of Lou Gehrig and the recent passing of his great and good patron, Colonel Jake Ruppert. One could dicker with the genial old beer baron. But not with that hard-boiled recalcitrant, Ed Barrow. So Lou submitted to a "slight slash" from last year's $40,000 and squiggled his name meekly.

AUSTEN LAKE

There are other, more poignant reasons. For though he can still drive baseballs over the outfield walls and haul down wide throws with his big mitt, it is my sad obligation to report that Lou's thick, hitching post legs which have carried him to 2122 consecutive ball games, are whooping down perceptibly. Whether he is fundamentally sound, as the statesmen say, to go through next season as a Yankee regular is doubtful.

The odd thing about Gehrig's unbroken string is that he has played these games—every one on the Yankee schedule since the afternoon in 1925 when the late Miller Huggins told him to take his big leather-pancake and relieve the veteran Wally Pipp, because, he says, he liked to be in the game. He likes baseball for its own sake and it seemed no strain to go out there every day. He still thinks it an ideal way to make a living and only regrets that the human frame is not durable enough to keep pace with his yearning.

Had Many Narrow Escapes

THERE HAVE BEEN TIMES of course, when injuries at home made him realize an affliction such as that September period of 1929 when he broke his leg, or the chipped an elbow at 1st base several years before that, was no joke. And that June 30 day of '28 when he was hit by a line drive, and nearly had his skull fractured in a collision with a bat. And that afternoon 16 days later when a line drive hit him in the head and he was laid up for 10 days. And that June 15, 1928, when a line drive hit him in the head and he was laid up for 10 days.

The thought of the times, which Gehrig has already established, one at which his players will not, through the years with a hint of hope of escape, was the last of his career, he says. He had just injured a foot on a day until one morning he read a newspaper story that he was playing baseball. He had never totaled up the games he had played, but he had heard out to his station as he afterwards became the first baseman, and thought it was the proper thing to do.

Babe Called Him Silly

THERE HAVE BEEN MANY WELL wishing advisers who warned him of the strength-sapping rigors of his record—notably Babe Ruth, who called him a fool for failing to loaf a few days now and then during the hot part of the year. But he has spurned every opportunity to surrender, as when, late last year, the Yankees were so far out in front that they could have substituted a team of blemish-free and still clinched the pennant. Lou could have taken a couple of weeks' vacation, but he preferred to stay on trying for some base hit which would fatten his anemic average of .285. He says he had been a fat and porky kind of kid in his boyhood and he had no thoughts of professional athletics until late in college life, when he found that there was a commercial rate of pay for what he had been doing gladly for nothing. And indeed, he says, he narrowly missed being dropped down the waste pipe with the Yankee farm at Hartford, which was a kind of checking room for the New York club where he was staked out for seasoning in 1924.

The Hartford owner was about to return him to the Yankees as a conspicuous bust and Lou says he was so overwhelmed with disgust that he ceased to give a tinker's care. So that day he stepped up to the plate, very loose and unconcerned, and belted out a brace of homers.

He Wait's Nature's Beckon

HE DIDN'T GO BACK TO NEW YORK and possible oblivion, but stayed on and slugged so many baseballs out of the park that Hartford yelled for the Yankees to come and get him before he busted the management. That was 15 years ago and now at 35 he is the sole survivor of the original Yankee group.

Gehrig has never been a vivid personality, though there were efforts to color him up with quaintness, because the writers like colorful characters to write their pieces about. But Lou wasn't quaint at all and beyond the nickname "Larruping Lou" and the "Iron Horse" he remained throughout his career just a truly great ball player of good behavior and quietude whose misfortune it was to be overshadowed by Babe Ruth and later by Joe Muggs.

He has always been friendly and ready with his leisure. As last season, during the training season, when a small boy visited the Yankee dugout to renew acquaintance with Lou, who had given him one of his warm mittens the previous year.

"Go home and practice," advised Lou, "and I'll keep the job open for you." In the 12 year-old lad was back to report his progress and thought by the time he was 20 he would be ready.

"Let's see," said Lou, "that means I'll have to keep busy for eight more years before I can turn the job over."

It was an unfortunate jest to make a small boy's heart happy yet was a prophetic if not overcast the work. His legs will be weak long ago and already, but certain, there are signs of the far front of physical autumn. His winter of discontent cannot be far behind.

JIMMY FOXX SIGNS

By BILL GRIMES

That reputed $40,000 salary of Jimmy Foxx's vanished on the wings of today's arctic gale. Jimmy Foxx signed his 1939 Red Sox contract this morning.

The signing took place in New York City, where Foxx had been since he was traded from the Boston Red Sox to the New York Yankees last season. He was seen by a reporter who was waiting for him at the hotel where he was staying. Foxx was seen by a reporter who was waiting for him at the hotel where he was staying.

"I'm very much satisfied," said Foxx over the telephone to Eddie Collins today, "and well taken care of."

"We anticipated no trouble with Foxx," said the Sox general manager. "We never had any before this season, and we didn't have any this year."

Stumped out of Philadelphia earlier in the winter and yesterday had Foxx clamoring for a $40,000 contract.

Foxx last year got only an American League contract for $30,000 and runs better in his own words than in the Sox's. He was traded by the Red Sox to the Yankees last season.

Foxx has hit 35 home runs in a season, said Jim. "If we can come that close, it seems that somebody will agree to three more circuit clouts for a new mark."

It was evident that Foxx thought at somebody would be either himself or Greenberg.

Foxx is the second major league batting first baseman to sign his contract within two days.

Yesterday Lou Gehrig, New York Yankees first baseman, signed his contract taking a slight cut from a $38,000 salary of a year ago.

Louis Gets $34,000 For 1-Round Kayo

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Joe Louis got paid at the rate of $39.94 a second for his two minute and 29 seconds knockout of John Henry Lewis at Madison square garden last night, according to figures of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club. The title-holder received $34,413.70 while Lewis drew down $15,846. Gross receipts were $102,015.45 and net receipts $66,819.26, with the attendance, 17,256.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Jan. 26—Joe Louis looked like one of the greatest ring champions of all time as he knocked out John Henry Lewis, former world's light heavyweight champion, after two minutes 29 seconds of fighting in the first round of their world's heavyweight title bout before 18,000 persons in the New York Garden.

Postmaster General James A. Henry, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the G-men, and many members of the House of Representatives were in the crowd when Lewis dropped the challenger to the canvas three times in that terrific opening round.

Lewis was down for two, three and five seconds. Referee Arthur Pennington halted the uneven contest when Lewis was helpless on his back. "I do not believe Lewis could have struggled to his feet again, but if he had done so he would have been completely wrecked by the crushing punches of the champion."

Lewis made a much more courageous battle than did Max Baer.

Schmeling Off to U. S.

BERLIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—Max Schmeling, who recently declared he would try again to win the heavyweight crown has started for the United States.

Schmeling left Berlin for Paris last night with his trainer Max Marchion. They have booked passage on the Scythia and will arrive from Le Havre Saturday and due in New York February 2.

An effort to get another fight may be in the minds of the two fighters but everything has pointed to a deliberate effort to get a fight put to rest. Schmeling has been sent to a concentration camp and others concerning his health and that of his wife, Annie Ondra.

Schmeling is known to have been perplexed over how to knock out Max Baer. He is said to have been in the city of the prize money and whether his trip was prompted by the money or not is not known. Schmeling's manager, Max Baer, is said to have been in the city of the prize money and whether his trip was prompted by the money or not is not known.

"Seeing that Schmeling is not only traveling within the borders of the Reich, but also outside of them, it is clear that he has been printed about him that represented him as 'disappeared' or 'no longer alive' must be silenced."

"Schmeling's trip abroad will certainly achieve something, but all agitators will invent another tomorrow."

That is the opinion of Max Baer, who is said to have been in the city of the prize money and whether his trip was prompted by the money or not is not known.

John Henry Lewis leads feeble left to Champion Joe Louis' jaw. Joe, meantime, has his right cocked for a sweeping uppercut. Up it comes—can you follow it?—and it dumps the light heavyweight atop lower rope and almost out of ring. John Henry climbed to his feet but went flat on his back again after being virtually paralyzed by a volley of lefts and rights to the head. The fearful slaughter ended two minutes and 29 seconds after the opening gong when Referee Arthur Donovan intervened while Lewis was taking a count of five.

ACT OF MERCY TO STOP FIGHT--DAMON RUNYON

By DAMON RUNYON

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Jan. 26 (INS)—Joe Louis slams John Henry Lewis with such ferocity in the first 45 minutes and 23 seconds of the first round that Referee Arthur Donovan performs an act of mercy in stopping the affair.

Joe Henry had absolutely no chance in the heavy-weight championship bout between two combatants who had in this country. As the heavy-weight champion of the world, the Arizona Negro has been awarded a boxing medal. Against the human-skinned giant of the heavy-weight division, Louis, he was a hopeless underdog.

UNABLE TO DEFEND

Louis' fighters around with him a minute. Then, knowing how looking with a blazing overhead right to be held for a count of two and then on punches past John Henry all over the ring, a few minutes in Madison square garden.

As the heavy-weight champion of the world, the Arizona Negro has been awarded a boxing medal. Against the human-skinned giant of the heavy-weight division, Louis, he was a hopeless underdog.

LESS TIME FOR SCHEMING

Donovan stopped the fight John Henry until his arrival. One of Louis' friends rushed across the ring with a sponge soaked with water, which he squeezed in Louis' face. Then, however, change of the colored fighter and Louis him to the ground.

John Henry never more than looked the heavy-weight champion's face with his eyes in work, otherwise than when they first came together. It is a strange thing to say, but the knowledge of Max Baer's own defense of the heavy-weight title he won from Jim Braddock, if he had him two minutes, and four minutes to dispose of the champion.

"MAH FRIEND"

When the match was John Henry was the suggestion to Joe to send to the mat.

"Mah goodness. Ah don't want to fight John Henry. John Henry's mah friend."

"Well, if he's your friend you'll give him a chance to make some money for himself," someone argued.

"Ah, nah, thought of that," replied Joe.

Conway Extols Champion

Although completely outclassed in small challenges fought back with great courage and persisted in getting up to face the human machine gun.

Louis was outclassed by 184 pounds. The champion of 1937, pounds Lewis at 183. The old saying holds that a good little man cannot beat a good big man once more proven to be true.

The champion kept pressing forward and finally nailed Lewis with a right hand sock flush on the jaw. The little challenger shook under the terrific force of the blow, which his legs became unsteady. Lewis, however, managed to remain on his feet.

JOHN HENRY HURT

Louis came leaping forward again like a leopard. Joe's right hand shot forward and crashed to the point of Lewis' jaw. The challenger dropped to the canvas. It was apparent that it was only a matter of minutes before the bout would be over.

Louis retreated along the ropes and it was a miracle how he kept his feet.

Louis drove in close, cut loose with a swinging right that landed on Lewis' jaw and sent the challenger's head back through the ropes. Lewis refused to take the count and was back in the ring fighting at the count of three.

RIGHT DID TRICK

Louis knew he had his man and moved forward for the kill. The challenger sent the challenger up with a sharp left hook to the jaw, and the little man skittered through the air as he landed with a double right hand shot.

Louis turned around in the air and plunged to the canvas, and then rolled over on his back. Referee Arthur Donovan halted the fight at the count of four and pronounced Louis the winner and the champion of the world.

Louis' brilliant exhibition of boxing had been witnessed by Max Baer, Jess Baker, Tony Gonsky and any other possible challengers. That night of them would have a chance of defeating him. It would be only a question of whether Louis would win in the first, second or third round in any of the proposed rounds.

Louis' head and shoulders were every heavy-weight in the world today in the number of log study. As he is still young, Joe Henry will be five more years younger. Time and the way that goes with being a millionnaire will be the cause of the downfall of Louis, rather than any challenges now on the fight horizon.

The show was a financial success for Mike Jacobs' 20th Century Club. There were 17,000 paid admissions for a gate of $182,815.

Louis' victory was a great triumph for the people.

It is expected that Louis will now try to return to the world heavyweight class, which Louis will maintain knowledge and the victory challenges.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Jan. 26 (INS)—John Henry Lewis got slapped with everything but a summons for parking by a fire plug. That's the story of the fight told much slower than it happened.

The fight was a rapidly hurried attraction by the same morbid curiosity that made people surround the tiger's cage at meal time in the zoo.

We will dig an old rag of ours that was written for Lions, and Capone, and show you John Henry Lewis got the lead and sent to the house. He got 10 pounds away from the champion and that's a good thing.

John Henry was gamier than a general on a field telephone. That's the only reason the fight lasted over a minute. He got up after the first punch scattered his judgment like two petals in a summer cyclone.

He didn't get a cold shower of hot leather and again sent down to separate the red ants from the green.

He didn't get a cold shower of hot leather and again sent down to separate the red ants from the green.

Once more John Henry hit the leather rostrum and once again he got to his quivering stills like a base with the rifle. He was gone like the last PWA appropriation. Referee Donovan waved the champion back to his corner and ended a fight that was as lopsided as a grade with one rocker.

The fight was a rapid and hurried attraction by the same morbid curiosity that made people surround the tiger's cage at meal time in the zoo.

His power is a terror to the heavyweights. He is a killer and my advice to the other heavies is to deliver no messages in person to him unless they are wearing a messenger boy's uniform.

With a diet of a forced person then Joe Louis is just what the doctor ordered.

M'Guirk Out of Running for B. C. Post

'Unknown' Likely to Get Job

By HERB FINNEGAN

The following announcement was made this afternoon by the Boston College Athletic Association: "Warren McGuirk, who was seriously considered for the head coachship of the Boston College varsity football team, today formally notified Rev. Patrick H. Collins, faculty director of athletics, that he wished to withdraw his name from the list of candidates submitted for the post by the graduate athletic advisory board."

And so, another name has been added to the lengthy list of Smiths and Harlowes and others who will NOT coach Boston College next year.

ANENT BILL KERN

McGuirk was seriously considered by the board, but I wonder if McGuirk himself was seriously considering the post.

He's well established in Malden, where he has done exceptionally well with the high school team, and he has a fairly lucrative sideline in the town which he probably would have had to drop had he taken the B. C. job.

No, I never figured McGuirk seriously, though every quarterback in the town has had him entrenched at the Heights for the past week.

Who will coach the team? Will it be a big name coach or not?

Will it be a graduate coach or not?

Well, as far as it is possible to divine the only BIG NAME left on the list is Bill Kern of Carnegie Tech, and it is extremely doubtful that he will come up here.

Those closest to the situation believe Kern is using Boston College as a wedge to a better contract at Carnegie, much as did Clipper Smith at Villanova.

SURPRISE IN STORE

Our guess is that the announcement of coach will occasion as much surprise as did the naming of Joe Sheeketski at Holy Cross.

Our guess is that it will not be an alumnus of Boston College. Our guess is that it will be an assistant from one of the more prominent Eastern universities.

Father Collins "begged understanding" at the latest meeting of the Varsity Club.

It is no secret to grab your gun at this late date and bring down a moose. Father Collins ought to know. He's been doing the hunting.

But if he doesn't come up with a BIG NAME coach, what of it? Eddie Anderson was a nobody when he started at Holy Cross, and he did all right, didn't he?

I Can Lick Louis---Nova

ALAMEDA, Cal., Jan. 26 (AP)—

Outwardly unalarmed by Champion Joe Louis' dynamism of John Henry Lewis is a little less than three minutes last night, Lou Nova, promising Alameda heavyweight who gained national recognition recently by beating Tommy Farr, declared today "I think I can beat Louis."

"I picked that fight to end in the first," said Nova, "but it wasn't much of a selection. John Henry has gone back a long way and he didn't figure to have a chance."

As a matter of fact, Louis made his greatest successes against fighters who have long passed their peak.

"He beat Primo Carnera, Paulino Lucardini, Max Baer and Max Schmeling, to mention a few, when they were all washed up."

Gansett Plans For Three Meets

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Jan. 26—

Because scores of horsemen who have filed stall applications for Narragansett Park are becoming anxious about their acceptance, Narragansett officials today explain the slight delay in confirming the reservations.

"We have definitely decided to apply for dates for three race meetings in 1939 in accordance with the understanding arrived at some weeks ago with the managements of Suffolk Downs and Rockingham Park," states Judge James E. Dooley, "but the official application for these dates has not yet been submitted to the state authorities."

Herman Signs Despite Cut

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—The signed contract of Billy Herman, star second baseman, was received today at the office of the Chicago Cubs.

Charles Drake, assistant to owner P. K. Wrigley, said Herman's $39 contract was "a little under" the salary he received last season, reported to have been about $8,000.

CHAMPIONS DEFEND LAURELS IN PROUT GAMES

Priest Draws Bye In Detroit Toust

By WALTER KILEY

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 26—A good night's rest and a fine gymnasium workout put the East's fighting ambassadors on razor edge for tomorrow night's National Hearst All-America amateur boxing championships, the annual title tourney which is due to attract a capacity crowd to Detroit's mammoth Olympia tomorrow night.

The East suffered little by the draw, our boys from the Atlantic Coast pulling four opening or semi-final match opponents from the South, three from the Mid-West and only one from the Pacific Coast, from which latter point Coach Arthur Marley has brought on another of his usually mighty arrays of "pure" talent.

SOUTHERNERS WEAK

Domenic Peretti of Albany, defending champion in the 115's and only member of either of the four teams to compete in the 1938 National Hearst tourney in Boston Garden last winter, must win first over Henry DeLaVega, tough and very Mexican from Los Angeles, before qualifying for the final.

Al "Red" Priest of Cambridge drew a bye when his opening opponent, Arthur Dornell of Texas, was injured in an automobile accident, breaking three ribs and being left at home without an alternate to plug the vacancy.

While the Southern team does not show to advantage, both the Pacific Coast and Mid-West have stand-out performers from one end of the list to the other.

TWINS SEEK LAURELS

It is just as well that Priest idles his way into the final. For all probability his championship opponent will be Harold Smith of Briggs, Detroit, rated one of the best boys developed in this section in years. Smith has already been installed heavy favorite to win the 147-pound championship.

Fast Field Toes Mark In Mile

By MURRAY KRAMER

There will be three defending champions at the 18th annual Prout Memorial games Saturday night at the Garden and this trio figures to have plenty of trouble retaining laurels gained in 1938.

Glenn Cunningham, Don Lash and Jimmy Herbert are the three monarchs who have every hope of breaking the tape again Saturday night but the situation this year figures to be much tougher.

It's true that Cunningham has been coasting along without much trouble to date this winter but in this coming affair he faces the toughest field he has been called upon to meet since the indoor campaign started.

There's Charley Fenske of Wisconsin, who has lost two decisions to Glenn by a foot; there's Wayne Ridenour of North Texas, Teachers who whipped Cunningham out of doors last year at Princeton over three-quarters of a mile; Mel Trutt, Chick Hayes' new find from Indiana, thought to be always second Gene Venek and there's Rosewell Brayton of Harvard to complete the field.

The experts look for Fenske to turn in the upset. Last year Chuck looked woefully weak here, but he was making his debut on boards and it was quite a handicap. After a solid season indoors, Fenske is now ready to prove that he is an outstanding Cunningham competitor.

GLENN FAVORITE

But, naturally, Cunningham will be the favorite, as will Don Lash, now a member of the Indiana State Police.

Lash is one of those automatic runners and seems to be always fit. He took the Sugar Bowl two miles recently and is ready for Saturday's ordeal.

Wayne Ridenour, who once beat Lash over the two-mile course, figures to be the real competition. But Joe McCluskey, the sage of trackdom's domain, is still plodding, with enough class to stay right up with the leaders. Tommy Decker, a former classmate of Don's from Indiana, is another outside possibility.

And since nothing is certain in the realm of sport, Lash may be stopped, but any horse player seeking a parley would play Cunningham and Lash to win only.

WALLACE FAVORITE

In the Prout 800, it's quite a different story. Jimmy Herbert, the defender here, will leave the barrier a second choice at best. The odds favor Wesley Wallace, the lad from Fordham who came fast toward the end of last winter and twice whipped Herbert.

Wallace has shown that he intends to be even better this year by smashing the world's indoor mark for the 800 in New York recently.

Then there is a decided dark horse in the race—Harold Cagle, the best outdoor quarter-mile in the country today.

The added distance will make little difference to the invader from Oklahoma, but the big question is whether he'll be able to negotiate the boards. This will be his indoor debut and if he finds the going to his liking, he's going to be right with these leaders down the home stretch.

Of course, Doug Raymond and Dick Gill, the local prizes, are also entered and neither can be overlooked at any time.

The other events are all wide open with the champions of last year gone.

Wells to Conduct Bowdoin School

BRUNSWICK, Jan. 26—Bowdoin's fourth annual baseball season conducted by Coach Linn Wells, will be held on Feb. 24 with Irving "Bump" Hadley of the New York Yankees, Clyde Sukerfort, former Cincinnati backstop, and Bisco, the big book games with any high school quints in the state.

The team is handled by Bill Mahoney, student manager.

MR. BOSTON

Billy Conn Heads For Fistic Heights

Lou Nova Has Title Dreams

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Billy Conn, Pittsburgh lightweight, attracted much attention at the ringside as Joe Louis and John Henry Lewis prepared to sweep into action. Conn is 21 years of age, six feet tall and weighs 168 pounds. He established himself as a national figure in the boxing game when he outscored Fred Apostoli in a 10-round bout at the Garden.

Mr. Boston

Apostoli is fighting Conn back over the 15-round route in the Garden on February 10, and it is expected that the tussle will jam the "House That Tex Built" to the rafters.

Conn is Irish, and has been better received in New York than any fighter who has come here in several years. Billy is a rangy youngster and should keep putting on weight until he is battling as a heavyweight. He would make a popular champion, and Mike Jacobs of the Twentieth Century Club can already visualize the Pittsburgh puncher drawing a million dollar gate.

Apostoli is a pretty rough citizen, but Conn stood toe to toe with him, and more than held his own in an exchange of blazing punches. Billy says he will do as well over the 15-round distance. There are persons close to the boxing game who contend the longer route will favor Apostoli who has had more ring experience than the Pittsburgh youngster.

In an effort to help along Conn's popularity boom, Billy's bout with Apostoli will be offered at a $5.75 top. Mike Jacobs has decided it is better to have the Garden sold out at a reasonable price scale than it is to get a $11 top and have the place half empty.

Nova-Baer Winner to Meet Louis

Mike Jacobs is my authority for the statement that the winner of the Lou Nova-Max Baer bout at the Yankee Stadium on May 26 will get a crack at Joe Louis in a title bout next September. This program would appear to leave Tony Galento out on the limb.

The Newark tavern keeper has been hopeful that he would get a shot at Louis in a Philadelphia ring during the coming summer. It is still possible, of course, that Louis may decide to add the Galento match to his schedule.

Nova does not intend to wait until next year for a championship match if he is successful in getting past Baer. Nova showed remarkable fighting form against Tommy Farr and believes that any young fighter who keeps forcing the issue can upset Louis.

Nova should have an even chance of defeating Baer who cannot be expected to be too good as a fighter after his long lay-off. Max is looking at the boxing game seriously, but it is always a question whether a heavyweight can come back at the age of 29. Baer would have done better if he had his present outlook on boxing at the time he was champion.

Apart from Billy Conn and Lou Nova, Pat Comiskey is the most talked of young boxer in New York. Pat is only 18 years of age, and will not be ready for top flight company for two or three more years. The fellow is a terrific biter who gives him a chance. One can gain boxing polish and ring wisdom. Fencers must be natural.

The desire to see somebody come along and win the title from Joe Louis will help encourage Nova, Comiskey, Conn and other young fighters.

Random Shots at Target

Now that Lou Gehrig has signed with the Yanks Joe McCarthy can start plans for winning another American League pennant. . . . It is said that Gehrig's salary was slashed from $40,000 to $30,000 in view of the poor year he had in 1938. . . . Most of the newspapers here give Lou's salary as $37,500 but the person who gave me the $30,000 figure is in a position to know. . . . Jimmy Foss would probably be delighted to sign with the Red Sox for $30,000. . . . Jimmy's salary will be closer to $25,000.

The naming of Eddie Collins, General Manager of the Red Sox, to the Hall of Fame was popular along Broadway. . . . Eddie was always a New York favorite when with the Athletics. . . . Baseball is headed for another big season in New York with thousands of visitors coming here to take in the World's Fair. . . . Jack Dempsey is in Miami, but is expected back in town early in the week. . . . Business at Dempsey's New York restaurant and bar fell off with the former champion in Florida. . . . The fans are anxious to meet Dempsey who in America's No. 1 greeter.

Ring Fame Within Grasp Of Maine's Boxing Idol

Lou Ambers, Italian fighter from Herkimer, N. Y., whose correct name is Luigi D'Ambrosio and who is aptly termed the Herkimer Hurricane, will be satisfied with nothing but a knockout victory tomorrow night at the Boston Garden.

Luigi, former lightweight champion of the world, battles Paul Junior from Lewiston, Me., in the 10-round feature bout of the Goodwin A. C. ring show and wants to walk out with a k. b. triumph.
The Herkimer Hurricane rules a 5-3 favorite and sharp observers expect him to punch his way to a slim decision.

HAS LOST 10 FIGHTS

Paul Junior has had some 350 fights, losing but 10 of them, and his trips to the canvas have been very infrequent. He is the idol of Maine fans, 700 of whom will form a cheering section at the Garden tomorrow night, confident Junior will upset Ambers.

It would be no surprise to see Junior win. He's got the necessary equipment and he likewise packs a punch solid enough to stop Ambers. If Junior should connect with his Sunday punch, he'll get hurtling into the front-line trenches in the lightweight warring, in line for a shot at Champion Henry Armstrong.

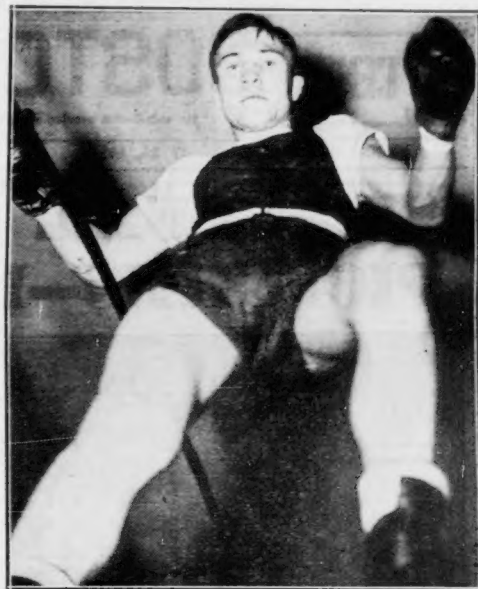

Ambers will take no chances. He wants to K. O. Junior and do it quickly. A defeat will cost Ambers a small fortune, for he's nearing a return bout with Armstrong, who took the lightweight crown by a whisker last year in a bout in which Ambers had Armstrong backing away in the last three rounds of a 15-round thriller.

ZULLO ON CARD

Other bouts tomorrow night, all sixes, will be Cal Dell vs. Bobby Allen, Jerry Zullo vs. K. O. Labbe, Ticky Ford, making his professional debut, vs. Jack Haggerty, George Salamone vs. Frank Conti and Henry Chmielewski, Polish sensation, vs. Jack McClelland.

Solons Uphold N.Y. Americans

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—A protest by the Montreal Canadiens against an allegedly offside goal, which gave the New York Americans a tie, here, Jan. 15, was thrown out by the board of governors of the National Hockey League.

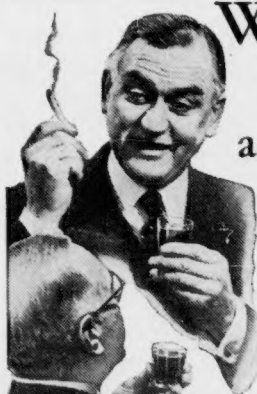

The action, at the board's monthly meeting, sustained a decision of President Frank Calder, who moved at the opening of the meeting to abide by the decision of Linesman Norman Shay, who said the disputed goal was properly scored.

A new rule was adopted, coupling a $25 fine automatically to any 10-minute misconduct penalty. President Calder said the rule should operate in favor of most players, since referees would consider carefully before meting out such banishments in the future.

Fireworks, expected over referees, fizzled out, although four of the referees attended the meeting. Calder said that there had been a few complaints, but the board was satisfied the officials were doing a competent job.

All in Vain!—John Henry Lewis, left, is shown making feeble attempt to get in a left inside Champion Joe Louis' guard but instead is greeted with a sharp left to stomach. The challenger went down three times in first round, badly beaten. Referee Arthur Donovan stopped fight after 2 minutes and 29 seconds.

Figure—or remark about it—sent Mrs. Charles P. Beiling, above, into court to fight divorce suit of wealthy husband. Mrs. Beiling, according to her mate, asked a visitor to their home about her figure. Beiling said he overheard it.
